19-21 November 2025

MILAN, ITALY

ABOUT

CloudStack Collaboration Conference is a 3-day get-together for the global Apache CloudStack community and people interested in open-source technology.

The conference is aimed at developers, operators and users to discuss and evolve the open-source project, its functionality and real-world operability. This event will introduce you to the Apache CloudStack family, community leaders, project members and contributors.

The talks and sessions at the conference are selected via a Call for Presentations process, and selected by technical merit. Many of the talks are given by user organisations. This year, we also plan a limited number of sponsored sessions to allow eco-system companies to share their products and services.

ATTENDEES

The CloudStack Collaboration Conference welcomes attendees from all over the globe. Our core audience is enterprises, cloud service providers, telcos and MSPs. Every region sends its best and brightest to share insights and knowledge on open-source technology, orchestrating public and private clouds and building IaaS. The typical visitors are:
